

1. Remember you're the most important person in your Wedding.

You need to make sure you practice self-care during the planning of your wedding. Sometimes it can be a little stressful, with all the planning required for your big day. You need to take time away form the planning otherwise it can consume you. Organise some date nights were discussing the wedding is off limits.

2. There are ways you can save money

By using a rectangular invitation and envelope you will save money on postage as odd size envelopes will attract more postage. If you save money by not printing RSVP cards and putting an email on the invitation for guests to respond if they will be attending your wedding.

3. Picking the perfect Menu

Choose a menu that will suit most of your guests' dietary requirements. Seafood is a good selection to keep away from in case any of the guests have allergies.

4. What to remember when choosing your outfits for your big day

Remember to keep in mind the venue your wedding will be held, as to what type of outfits and shoes would suit. You can of course wear what you.

5. Have you got a weather contingency plan?

If your wedding is to be held outside, do you have a contingency plan? Remember if your wedding is outside, the weather sometimes will not go to plan. Make sure there is a Plan B where you can have your wedding in case of rain. If you are having a wedding at sunset, make sure you check the time of the sun going down.

6. Wedding Gifts for each Other and your attendants

Write your gift card/love letter to your partner and the gits for your attendants a week before the wedding. This will take some of the pressure off you before the big day.

7. Your Celebrant

When looking for a Celebrant, make sure they can compliment you. That you feel comfortable to be able ask any question, even if you think it is a silly one. You should feel that they get you and understand what you want on your special day.
